Fire at Cannel City.

A dwelling house in the upper end of Cannel City, known as the Prater property, and belonging to the O. & Ky. Ry. Co., was destroyed by fire last Sunday morning about 11 o'clock. The origin of the fire is unknown. Loss about $1,000.

Spotted Fever At Berea.

A dispatch to the Cincinnati Enquirer Sunday from Berea says: Serum sent by Dr. Flexner, of the Rockefeller Institute at New York, arrived too late to save Floyd Robertson, a spotted fever victim.
His makes the third death due to the disease. All victims were students at Berea College. Over 100 students have left the college.

Woman Killed by O. & K.

Mrs. Jane Kilbourn was struck by an east bound train at Frozen last Saturday afternoon while trying to drive her cow off of the track. The engine hit the cow and knocked her against the woman who was thrown between the engine and the platform and she was crushed so badly that she died the same night about twelve o'clock. She had been keeping house for her son, Arthur Kilbourn, whose wife died about a month ago.

Taken for River Men.

Deputy U. S. Marshal Wm.
Mays, of Owsley county, was here Tuesday. He had warrants a few days ago for the arrest of fifteen men charged with moonshining and the illegal sale of liquor on the head of Logg's creek, Squa-ble creek, Bull's Skin and Buffalo creeks. He sent word for them to meet him at Keen Gilbert's, on Buffalo Sunday, which they did.
Mr. Mays says when he approached Gilbert's all the parties were there awaiting him and that the scene resembled a crowd at a country meeting house. They were taken to Beattyville and placed in jail and were given an examining trial last Monday before U. S. Commissioner J. M. Beatty and three were acquitted and the remainder held over to the Federal court at Frankfort. Mr. Mays said quite a number of people on the road thought they were river men and wanted to know where they were going to take their timber. The boys replied that they were going to run it to Frankfort and sell it on six months time and board it out.

Recipe Mixed Often.

Some remarkable stories are being told about town and among the country people coming in of this simple home-made mixture curing Rheumatism and Kidney trouble. Here is the recipe and direction for taking: Mix by shaking well in a bottle one-half ounce Fluid Extract Dandelion, one ounce Compound Kargen, three ounces Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla. Take as a dose one teaspoonful after meals and at bedtime.

No change need be made in your usual diet, but drink plenty of good water.

This mixture, writes one authority in a leading Philadelphia newspaper, has a peculiar tonic effect upon the kidneys; cleansing the clogged-up pores of the eliminative tissues, forcing the kidneys to sift and strain from the blood the uric acid and other poisonous waste matter, overcoming Rheumatism, Bladder and Urinary troubles in a short while.

A New York druggist who has had hundreds of calls for these ingredients since the first announcement in the newspapers last October stated that the people who once try it "swear by it," especially those who have Urinary and Kidney trouble and suffer with Rheumatism.

The druggist in this neighborhood say they can be easily mixed at home. There is said to be no better blood-cleansing agent or system tonic known, and certainly none more harmless or simple to use.

ESTILL COUNTY Irvine.

We learn that A. D. Irvine has applied to Judge Adams for the office of Master Commissioner of Estill county. We would be glad to learn of his appointment, for he is a worthy man. He is suddenly taken down with pain near his heart. His correspondent was at Irvine Monday shaking hands with his friends and neighbors. The most importanthings talked about was the election. I hope the time will soon come when men can run for office without having to put money before they can have the names put on the ballots. The forefathers filled the same places in their day as we now do, and there was no such thing as going to get their names on the ballot.
Just as soon as a poor man becomes a candidate for office you will at once hear the politicians.
They begin to raise a buzz and say a poor man cannot be elected because he has no money to make the race. It is not the money that makes the man; it is the heart. He carries in his bosom love that flows to friends and foe alike. L. C. Wilson bought four oxen from Alfred Crowder $185.
Abner Wiseman has moved to the Pleasant Witt farm on Calloway Creek. Our county surveyor has been surveying for A.
D. Powell, John Vaughn, and Witt and Henry Hines.

LEE COUNTY. Primrose.

As "Hooker" wants to take another lay-off, he has turned his correspondence over to "Chatter-box". Rev. J. B. Nolan, who has been in our midst for the past week holding a protracted meeting, left Monday for his home at Irvine. Bro. Nolan is an earnest worker and all who made his acquaintance did regret to see him leave. Rev. Harve Johnson and family left last week for Jackson county where they will make their future home. On last Thursday night the residence of R. P. Marks was burned to the ground. The house caught fire from an upstairs room while the family was out. A large portion of the household goods were saved, but the loss is said to have been about $1,000. Mr. Marks will begin to rebuild in a few days.
Mrs. Noah Lucas is very low.
Viola, the little daughter of Dora White, died last Sunday evening.
The little one was laid to rest by the side of her father in the old White grave yard. Married, on the 8th inst., Miss Eliza Arnold, daughter of Newton Arnold, of this place, and Curtis Stamper, of Tulsa, I. T. Rev. M. F. Stamper officiating. The young couple left Monday for the Indian Territory where they expect to make their future home. We wish them a happy and successful life.

George King was visiting friends on Morg Sunday.

Mrs. S. B. Tomlin has been quite sick for the last few days.

Mr. McGuire, of Saint Helens, is visiting his son, Kelly, on Frozen, this week.

Leslie Lockard came very near getting killed the other day by being kicked by a horse.

John Cardwell, of Boone, is preparing to move in our neighborhood, on the farm of Kelly McGuire.

Our Sunday school at this place is progressing nicely; 27 in attendance last Sunday as bad as the day was.

In answer to the question of the Irvine correspondent He said:
"Read your Bible before you answer." He should have read his Bible before he asked the question.
Genesis I chapter, 27 verse, says:
"So God created man in His own image in the image of God created He him male and female, created He them" and this was the evening and the morning of the sixth days. He finished his work in six days and rested on the seventh, and what Moses says in the 2 chapter of the same book is describing only how God did this work.

Dr. J. R. Carroll was called to Stillwater on professional business Monday.

Uncle Granville Evans, aged 82 years, residing one mile south of Campton, died Monday after a severe illness of a few weeks.
"Governor" Evans, as he was generally known, had many friends among the best citizens of our county and many of his humorous sayings will be remembered because of their originality. He was buried by the Masonic fraternity at the family burying ground Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock.
He was the father of John Evans, late deceased of Hazel Green, and Douglas Evans of this town.

"You are accused," said the court severely to the automobilist, "of having run this man down."

"Sure, I did, your honor," responded the prisoner, "but I heard him run down my make of machine." Naturally this circumstance was taken into consideration.—Exchange.

A. H. PATTON,
ATTORNEY AT LAW.

OFFICE IN CRAWFORD BLDG., JACKSON KY.

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 21

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

FOR CIRCUIT JUDGE.

We are authorized to announce JUDGE G. W. GOURLEY, Of Beattyville, Ky., as a candidate for circuit judge of this, the 23d judicial district, subject to the action of the Republican party.

COMMONWEALTH'S ATTY.

We are authorized to announce A. H. STAMPER, of Campton, as a candidate for Commonwealth's Attorney of this the 23d judicial district, subject to the action of the Democratic party. Election Nov. 3, 1908.

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the office of Commonwealth's Attorney of the 23d judicial district, composed of the counties of Breathitt, Wolfe, Lee and Estill, subject to the action of the Republican party. I solicit the support of all good citizens regardless of party affiliations.

A. H. PATTON.

We are authorized to announce Z. T. HURST,

Of Breathitt county, as a candidate for Commonwealth's Attorney for this the 23d judicial district, subject to the action of the Republican party.

FOR COUNTY CLERK.

I take this means of announcing myself as a candidate for County Court Clerk of Breathitt County, subject to the action of the Democratic party. If elected I shall, regardless of party affiliations, be your most obedient servant.

ALFRED RUSSELL.

A Strong Democrat.

In this issue of The News will be found the announcement of Hon. A. H. Stamper, of Campton, as a candidate for the office of Commonwealth's Attorney of the 23d judicial district, subject to the action of the Democratic party. Mr. Stamper has been practicing law for 15 years and is considered one of the ablest criminal lawyers in this section of the State. He is a power before a jury, being eloquent, forceful, logical and convincing in his arguments. He is a self-made man; his father dying when he was only a child, but being possessed with indomitable will and courage he has by reason of hard study and close application forged his way to the front.

Mr. Stamper's candidacy will have much to do with uniting the Democratic party in this district, and, if elected in our judgment will make an able, strong and fearless prosecutor, and an official that all good, law-abiding citizens will be proud of.

Mr. Stamper was elected county attorney of Wolfe county two terms and filled the office with distinction and much credit to himself as well as the county. He was elected in 1896 as a Bryan elector and made a vigorous canvass of the Tenth Congressional district and paid his own expenses. Afterwards he was a candidate for the State Senate; his opponent being Judge Hampton, of this county, and Mr. Stamper won the nomination, which was contested, and in the interest of harmony and Democratic success, he and his opponent withdrew and Charles Sublett, of Magoffin county, was made the nominee.

Mr. Stamper is a prominent Mason, Odd Fellow, Red Man and one of the brightest and most zealous members of the Jr. O. U. A. M. in this section of the State.

Patton in the Race.

We call attention to the announcement of A. H. Patton of the Jackson bar, as a candidate for Commonwealth's Attorney of the 23d judicial district. The election comes up at the regular November election, 1908, and we predict that Mr. Patton's candidacy will receive the hearty support of his party and will be especially pleasing to the people of his home county. The office should be filled by an able, honest and courageous lawyer. In our opinion he is the best qualified man of his party in the district for the office. He is recognized as one of the leading lawyers of the district; and that his integrity is above reproach no one will question who knows him.

Out of all the lawyers in this county Mr. Patton was the only one who had the courage to come out boldly and stand for the people's rights in the noted "Hogback" election. He was the Republican campaign chairman and did as much as any one man to free our county from the toils of the lawless element then crushing out life and liberty. He was unflinching in his efforts in organizing, counseling and preaching liberty from the houseposts. Neither threats nor menaces could intimidate him. Behind our enemies, or facing them, in public or private, he was the same undaunted, fearless champion of the people's rights. Wherever the fight was the hottest he was in the thickest of the fray. These things and many other worthy acts the people will not forget.

Mr. Patton is entitled to the office to which he aspires, and should have had the appointment at the hands of the Governor.

Judge G. W. Gourley.

Elsewhere in this issue will be found the announcement of Judge G. W. Gourley, of Beattyville, as a candidate for Circuit Judge of this district to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Judge Riddell. We have known Judge Gourley for many years and while we have not always agreed with him on all questions, we are free to say that he is an honest man and a good lawyer and justly ranks as one of the leading legal lights of this section. Judge Gourley is a strong man with his party and has always been a consistent Republican, working hard for his party at all times. He is well and favorably known all over the district and has hosts of friends in every county. He is especially strong in his home county and it looks like he will land the nomination. The Republicans will make no mistake in nominating Judge Gourley. He is the strongest man in his party in this district.

Canoe.

Logan Little is on the sick list. Asberry Spicer has returned from Hamilton, Ohio. Stephen Little found a bunch of keys which the owner can have by calling on him. James Vires and Miss Sallie Turner were married last Saturday. Clifton Sebastian sold Archie Sebastian a pair of mules for $400. Alfred Cornett and Steve Spicer have bought the steam distillery on Canoe Fork. Bige McKnight is teaching normal in the Canoe Fork college.

Howards Creek.

George Gambill returned home Friday from Richmond. The Sunday school at Sulphur Gap is progressing splendidly. Misses Pokie and Charlotte Strong, of Whick, were guests of Mrs. Geo. Anderson Saturday and Sunday. Brint Spicer was at Canoe Fork Sunday. Price Strong, of Whick, was the guest of Wiley Anderson from Friday till Sunday. Billie Strong entertained the young folks Saturday night with a dance. Jr. O. U. A. M. Mt. Zion Council No. 22, is progressing nicely. Wiley Anderson made a business trip to Lexington Monday.

Terry.

John Gross, of Buckhorn, passed by this place Thursday on his way to Athol. Mrs. Miles Terry is visiting her son, Charles, at Jackson, who has been confined to his room for the past week with throat trouble. Mrs. Wm. N. Terry has been confined to her room for several days. Mr. and Mrs. Price Terry visited Mrs. Luther Little Monday. Joe Terry, Jr., is attending school at Canoe. Oscar Combs and wife visited his parents at Wharf Wednesday and Thursday. Misses Nannie Lou and Rosie Griffith, who are attending school at Buckhorn visited their parents Saturday and Sunday. Miss Cappie Terry who has been visiting relations and friends near Elkatawa, has returned home. Richard Spicer, son of Erb Spicer, died at his home, near Shoulder Blade last Thursday night. John Anderson, of Shoulder Blade, visited Miles Terry the past week. Miss Ada Herald visited her sister, Mrs. Bill Terry, recently. W. K. Terry Sr., made a business trip to Jackson Sunday. There is much sickness in this vicinity. Grover Anderson made a trip to this place recently. Several of our people attended court at Jackson this week.

Jett's Creek.

The little daughter of Mrs. Surilda Short is on the sick list. Wm. K. Terry and several others of this place are talking of running a telephone line on Jett's creek and connecting with the Company's line at A. C. Short's. Mr. and Mrs. I. C. Terry visited H. C. Short Sunday. Henry Johnson, of War Creek, is moving to Lick branch, near this place. There will be church at Jett's Creek school house the first Saturday and Sunday in each month. Daniel Jett is building a store house on his farm. In a few weeks he will have a full line of goods. High Bryant and family are on the sick list.

BUMBLE BEE.

Taulbee.

Willie Taulbee, aged 5 years, is very low and not expected to live.

Maywood Smith and wife have been visiting their parents in Magoffin county.

Reed Carpenter, son of Breck Carpenter, is very sick and not expected to live. He has lung trouble and was taken to a Lexington hospital by his brother, Jerry, for treatment, but the physicians advised that he be returned home as his disease was incurable. Population swift increasing. Breathitt families not decreasing. Babies, babies by the score. Evermore, evermore. Mothers busy at their sewing. Breathitt fathers gently crowing. Stork comes swooping, now he's nesting. Nurse girl problem, hard he's testing. Babies, babies by the score. Evermore, evermore.

There's a baby boom in this end of the county. Several little bundles of humanity, without any hair or teeth, but with sparkling eyes and chubby hands and feet have arrived in the past few days. Squally weather is now in store. If the rush continues Conductor Everett Back will have to add extra cars on the O. & K. railway to handle the increasing traffic on his popular line. Already some alarmists say a milk famine is threatened in Breathitt county. On the 11th inst., the stork left a boy at the home of Lyon George; on the 12th another boy was left at the home of Sherman Roberts, and a bunch of feminine loveliness was also left at the home of Alf Privitt, near Robbins, while another fine and dandy boy was left to brighten the home of John R. Taulbee on the 8th inst.

Crockettsville.

Tarlton Hollon and Miss Martha Allen were married on the 6th inst at the residence of the bride's parents, John B. Lewis officiating.

A difficulty occurred on Long's creek last Saturday between Jack Barger and Jim Sawyers which terminated fatally for the former. Sawyer claimed he had rented a stable of George Helton, who is Barger's father-in-law, and took possession and put his corn and stock into the stable. Barger then turned the stock out and swore he would put a lock on the door. He went away and soon returned with a lock. About the time he arrived at the barn Sawyer shot him with a shot gun, instantly killing him.

Clemons.

Elihue Clemons who has been confined to his bed with rheumatism, is improving. Mrs. Prudie Miller has also been confined to her bed for about forty days with the same disease. Jerry Campbell's wife is very low with the grip. Mrs. Allie Napier is on the sick list. H. C. Clemons' little daughter has been very sick for the past week. Mrs. Artie Richie and daughter while on their way to Jackson to attend court stopped over Monday night with your correspondent. Mar-die Hollon died at his home last Monday, leaving a wife and two children.

A Couple of Dons.

(Copyright, 1907, M. M. Cunningham.)

Don Artero, old Mexico was no don at all. He was a cattle stealer. Don Chuaya, his neighbor, was a real don and a cow owner. Don Artero was a desirable neighbor, and the government was not to remove him. The government ordered. Five hundred of Don Chuaya's steers got mixed up with the one don's herds, and the government was asked to send troops. The government was very sorry, and so forth, but had none to spare. Don Chuaya once proceeded to hustle. Healed in and armed his retainers to the number of fifty and made a dash for the other don with the avowed object of capturing 1,000 of his biggest and fattest steers. The other don and of the contemplated raid, and there were an ambush and a fight, and the forces of Chuaya were put to flight. Twelve of them were killed and others licked out of their boots. When a true don has bucked up just one game and got the worst of it he feels badly and up and at it Uncle Rubes rolled into one. He wells with indignation. He gnashes his teeth in fury. He gets out at the first door and yells "Caram-ba!" at the top of his voice. He can't let things go that way. He is bound to get back at the other fellow if it takes his last red cent and his last drop of blood.

Don Chuaya raised a hundred men this time. He figured that a hundred men would be twenty-five, but it so happened that Don Artero was mean enough to recruit his own force to seventy-five and each one of them was worth three of the others. When the forces came together the fight did not last five minutes. Don Chuaya's men were defeated.

The net was made by Don Artero, and he gobbled up a thousand head of cattle. From thence on for the next five years he bothered the life out of the other and brought his proud head low with shame and humiliation. He even made threats of storming the Chuaya hacienda and putting all to the sword, and at last the old man with the long hair and proud title found himself under blackmail. He had to pay a much a month to be let alone.

These things were breaking Don Chuaya's heart, when a red headed civil engineer belonging to the survey corps of the Mexican Central road came along one day and heard the story. He was sorry for the don. He had been off the lands of the other for years, and he sighed for revenge. A civil engineer need not have a war to be able to see a strategic situation. This engineer saw one of the hacienda. He saw just where Don Artero would attack and just where he would meet with disaster. There were a dozen peons on the ranch who would fight, and something had to be done to save the don. The engineer was to find out what he could do in case he captured the robber and his band. When he had all this out he set a trap. He had a talk with the old man, and says later a hundred big bear traps were set from Mexico City. The bear trap market was firmer than for years before. The peons dug up a certain space of ground and planted the traps, and then Don Chuaya sent word to Don Artero that he was a robber, a thief, a coward and a coward. There was to be no more black mail. The big robber was insulted, enraged and defied. He was told that if he came within a mile of the hacienda he would be chewed to rags. You can wager that such a message made the other's hair curl. He read the message and then swore by the beard of his father that he would tear out the adobe walls of the other's castle and eat his fried heart for lunch. He meant what he said, and the horns were sounded and the dogs of war unleashed. His land now numbered thirty-five men, and on the very next morning they appeared in front of the hacienda, and immediate and unconditional surrender was demanded. Don Chuaya appeared and hurled vile epithets at the robbers and dared them to come on. The thing worked just as the red headed engineer said it would. After you have called a Mexican cattle thief a coyote, a snake, a skunk, a gopher and a coward he wants to close in and argue the matter from a nearer standpoint. Don Artero uttered a yell and led the charge. Only three or four rifles blazed at his gang. There was just room for the line to sweep across the ground planted with bear traps, and within a minute after the yell the traps were doing business. Snap, snap, went their heavy jaws, and yells and hoots of pain and terror followed.

General Grant couldn't have done better in his palmist days. Out of the thirty-five scoundrels all but three were caught and held fast, and when Don Chuaya went out to inspect them he found no fight left in even the leader. The captives could not have suffered more had they received two bullets apiece. The engineer had hidden elsewhere for two or three days after the fight. When he returned for his grant of land he found Don Chuaya in possession of the Artero ranch and its host of cattle, and there was no one to dispute. He inquired for the prisoners and was told that they had gone on a journey. When he had rested a day or two the don handed him certain papers and checks and, smiling, said: "Friend, my friend. This is a great country, but one Yankee and a hundred bear traps have taught me more about political economy than I might otherwise have learned in a lifetime."

ELECTION THIS FALL

Circuit Judge and Commonwealth's Attorney Must be Elected November 3, 1908.

THE LAW THAT GOVERNS.

The appointment of James P.
Adams as Circuit Judge to succeed the late Judge Robert Riddell, and of Kelly Kash to succeed Mr. Adams as Commonwealth's Attorney for this district are good only till the next election. There must be an election held in November to fill these offices. A part of the Constitution of the State and an opinion of the Court of Appeals construing that section follows. Section 152 of the Constitution says:

"Except as otherwise provided in this Constitution, vacancies in all elective offices shall be filled by election or appointment, as follows: If the unexpired term will end at the next succeeding annual election at which either city, town, county, district or State officers are to be elected, the office shall be filled by appointment for the remainder of the term. If the unexpired term will not end at the next succeeding annual election at which either city, town, county, district or State officers are to be elected, and if three months intervene before said succeeding annual election at which
State officers are to be elected, the office shall be filled by appointment until said regular election, and then said office shall be filled by election for the remainder of the term."

In the case of Todd vs. Johnson, 99, Ky., 548, it is decided that:

"Presidential electors are State officers in the meaning of this section, and vacancies in elective offices may be filled at the succeeding annual election at which electors for president are to be elected."

The Constitution says that if the vacancy occurs three months before an election at which either a city, town, county, district or State officer is elected, the vacancy SHALL be filled at that election by election. The Court of Appeals decides that a presidential elector is a State officer within the meaning of this section of the Constitution and as presidential electors are to be elected at the coming election there must necessarily be an election of Circuit Judge and Commonwealth's Attorney.

An Apparition.

(Original.)

One evening when the United States forces under General Scott were marching from Vera Cruz to the City of Mexico, fighting by the way, several officers were chatting in front of a tent.

"I saw Harding today," said one of them, Lieutenant Ian Paul. "I hadn't seen him since we were graduated at the Point six years ago. I didn't know he was with this army. I supposed he was with General Taylor.
We were roommates at the academy and used to have lots of talks after taps. Harding was full of queer ideas.
Before we parted we had made an agreement, common with youngster chums, that whichever of the two died first was to appear if possible to the other."

"I wonder how a fellow would take such a visitation as that," remarked one of the party.

"Harding would take it coolly enough," put in another. "He isn't afraid of the devil."

"So long as he didn't believe it au-perhuman. But supposing him to be convinced that it was?"

"Paul, you might try him some time.
You'd have a fine chance, considering your agreement with him."

"I'd have to get killed first or he'd have to think I'd been killed," added Paul carelessly, and the subject was dropped.

At the capture of the City of Mexico Lieutenant Paul was reported killed.
He had simply got detached during some hard fighting and was taken prisoner, but before he could be sent to the rear the tide of battle turned, and he was left to his own sweet will.
Being within the Mexican lines, he needed to watch his chance to rejoin the American army. He was successful and about 9 in the evening appeared before some of his brother officers, much to their astonishment.

"This would be a good opportunity for you to appear in spirit form to Harding," suggested one of them.
"He's sure you're dead."

"So it would," said Paul. "I believe I'll try it."

The others, pleased at the prospect of some amusement, concealed Lieutenant Paul till midnight, when, having chalked his face, tinged his hair and dabbed a wound over his heart with berry juice, he made ready to appear to his friend. Harding had got up his tent and was occupying it. The tent flaps were thrown back, the light of a full moon streaming within the canvas. To avoid a mishap one of the officers accessory to the experiment had during the evening gone into the tent while Harding was not there and removed Harding's pistol, replacing it with another loaded with blank cartridges.

An hour before midnight Harding was lying awake, thinking of the friends he had lost during the day, especially regretting Paul, of whom he was very fond. He was slinking into drowsiness when a zephyr slowly wafted a cloud like a puff of smoke before his tent, and in it and partly concealed by it was the figure of his friend. When the cloud drifted on it left the apparition standing facing the moonlight. It was looking straight ahead on vacancy, white as death eyes hollow, hair unkempt and a red smudge on the left breast. There was not the slightest movement.

Harding raised himself upon his elbow and looked. He had long ago got over any belief in the return of those who have died, if he had ever had any such belief, but this appearance of one he felt reasonably sure was dead in this ghastly fashion staggered him. He felt no fear, though an indescribable horror began to creep over him, a sort of paralysis. He would have been relieved at the slightest movement, sound, anything to break the spell. It was the unexpectedness of the manner of his friend keeping his appointment, if indeed such it was.
He had expected Paul to look at him, to speak to him. But here was a figure turned aside, the face ghastly in the moonlight, as impassive as a statue.

Harding was simply lost in a horrible wonder. He had no desire to speak to the apparition or whatever it was. He would not have known what to say if he had had such a desire. All the while something like a chill from a sepulcher was creeping over him. If any one afterward had asked him how long the apparition lasted, he would have said not less than fifteen or twenty minutes by the watch. Yet up to this point not more than ninety seconds had been ticked.

Then came the only change in the figure that was made during its stay.
The dawn of a smile appeared on the face. Imperceptibly it broadened till a ghastly grin extended from ear to ear.

Paul heard a moan from within the tent and immediately strode away to some of his comrades who were waiting and told them to go at once to Harding. They found him cold as death and insensible. One sprinkled his face, another chafed him, while a third poured brandy down his throat.
Presently he revived. Paul did not go near him till he had got the chalk off his face and Harding had been informed that he was alive and the whole thing had been intended for a practical joke.

"It's the way you did it that finished me," said Harding. "Men talking like ghosts is all nonsense. You can't make a ghost's voice out of a human being's.
You played your part well. But how did you contrive the cloud?"

"Burned a little powder and fanned the smoke past the face of your tent."

Farmers in the Southwest are getting rich on the increasing value of their farms.

Not so very many years ago Illinois and Iowa land sold for ten dollars an acre. More recently Nebraska lands sold at that price.
Look at them now. What makes them so high? The land is no better than it was then. What caused the price to go up? People—nothing but people, and lots of them. History will repeat itself in the Southwest—only it will not take so long. The Southwest is growing very fast; much faster than any other section of the United States. The land in the Southwest is just as good as Illinois, Iowa or Nebraska land. But there is more land than there are people, that's the only reason it's so cheap. How long do you think it will take the Southwest to get as many people to the farm acre as Illinois or Iowa have? Just about five years—ten at the very outside.
When that time comes you will have to pay just as much for land in the Southwest as you would pay in Illinois or Iowa.

Why not buy your farm in the Southwest now—when you can get it cheap—cheap enough for you to get a big one? A few years hence you will be looked upon just as the man who owns 640 acres in Illinois is looked upon to-day—as a substantial, well-to-do, leading member of your community.

The low rate excursions via the Rock Island-Prisco Lines the first and third Tuesdays of each month, offer you an opportunity to see the Southwest at very little cost.
Take this opportunity to get away from the cold for a few days, and enjoy the delightful weather the Southwestern farmer is having.

Let me send you some interesting literature about the Southwest to read these long evenings. Our books about Missouri, Kansas, Arkansas and Oklahoma are full of photographs and reliable information—the very information a man thinking of settling in one of these states ought to have. I'll send you absolutely free any of these books you want.

The Rock Island-Prisco Lines have no lands for sale and are only interested in getting good, energetic settlers for the fertile unoccupied lands along their lines. To such men every help possible is freely given.

When Woman Was Made.

EDITOR NEWS:

Please allow me space to arranger the Irvine correspondent who wants to know when woman was made.

Man was made on the sixth day of creation. Thus the heavens and the earth were finished and all the hosts of them. Woman was finished last and made finer, for God always ascends in creation.
And on the seventh day God ended His work which He had made.
He did nothing on the seventh day but bless it. Woman was made the last on the sixth day for "all the hosts of them" attests that beyond doubt.

In the 21st verse the inspired penman gives a repetition and particularizes the mode of God's work. On the sixth day He made her from the rib of man, near the heart, not from the head, as she have supremacy, nor from the foot that she may not be trodden down, but near the heart where she was to be His equal in every particular. "Convolution & convolution" flesh of my flesh" in every particular, save the difference which is implied in the word womb man. A man all over with that organ out of sight but still there. This is included from the fact that he was in God's likeness. And to be in God like here was eternal generation. We have no faculties to explain that, but there it is, an object of faith.

And now Mr. Correspondent, we put a question to you. What time and how long did it take Adam to name all the birds of the heaven, beasts of the forest and the animal world that we hear of in modern science. An arly answer will be welcome.
